

Statement of Vision and Success

See our Community - the Faces of Hope - Through our Eyes

There are many ways to look at our community, often seen as one of the most troubled in the city.

Families who proactively seek support of our tutors to assure their children's success, show us determination. We see progress when students in our High School Connection are averaging almost double the district GPA and ALL our high school seniors are graduating and going on to higher education.

Some see dismal statistics. In fifth grader Shamauri, we see gratitude when she brings us a valentine. We see ambition in Terrance when he completes his high school courses early and excitedly shares his admission letter to Marquette University. We see pride in Catherine, a Rufus King senior, when she, with great excitement and sparkling eyes, tells us she has been accepted at four colleges including UW-Madison and UW-Whitewater. When a request is made of our students for help and seas of waving hands appear, we see community.

Many look at the joblessness in our community and wonder what is wrong. We see companies like Artisan Partners working with us to provide internships for our high school students. We see volunteers at Manpower, Inc. committing to our future work force by opening their doors and welcoming our students to their offices twice each week for tutoring. We see the support of large and small businesses that commit their dollars and talent to help us reach our next generation of leaders.

Some look at the schools in our area and wonder why so many children are underachieving and falling increasingly behind. We see gifted administrators and dedicated teachers who partner with us to bring after-school and summer programming to children, giving them that extra support and guidance they need to achieve.

We are not blind to the significant challenges the youth and families face in our community, but we are continually inspired when they share their dreams and demonstrate their resiliency. The volunteers encourage us with their unwavering support of our vision and their commitment to the children's success. We know our kids and we see their promise - their faces of hope. Your enduring help and support lets the kids know that rather than seeing despairing statistics, you see their gratitude, success, ambition, excitement, determination, pride and potential.

Sincerely,

Susan Quandt

Thank you for your support

These gifts acknowledge the cash contributions received and do not reflect the hundreds of hours our volunteers contribute nor the thousands of dollars of books, supplies, equipment and pro bono work individuals, congregations, food organizations and businesses donate each year.

We are thankful for everyone's continued support, and wish to recognize "The Gathering" for their generosity to our community families through the Saturday meal program and food for our students throughout the year.

Making their Dreams Reality

To ensure the growing number of high school students find the financial assistance needed to continue their education post graduation, Our Next Generation has established an endowed scholarship fund. The board of directors and family of Our Next Generation thank the many who pledge their support to help these graduates achieve their goals.

tutoring, mentoring and support that Our Next Generation provides.

A special recognition and thank you to the late Marian Breskvar for her unwavering support of the work of Our Next Generation. As a teacher in the Milwaukee and Waukesha Public School Systems for a total of 40 years, Breskvar recognized the importance of the academic

Early in life she realized the values associated with learning, and believed that if there is to be improvement in the world, it will have to be through education. These values were in perfect alignment with Our Next Generation, so in August of 1999 she created the M. Drake Breskvar Our Next Generation, Inc. Scholarship Fund. Grants from this fund led to the creation of the Antwan Ambers Endowment Fund.
